Bristol's The Fauns may be relative newcomers to the UK music scene, but their blistering debut harkens back to the golden era of shoegaze - taking cues from the likes of Ride, Slowdive, Lush, Cocteau Twins and countless others.

But that's not to say they aren't original – these guys (and gal) definitely hold their own. Alison Garner's beautiful, floating vocals meld perfectly over thick waves of fuzzy guitars and a warm rhythm section. Throw in some solid songwriting and you have all the ingredients for a perfectly hazy, sun-drenched landscape of noise and bliss – influenced, yes, but definitely not bound to the scene they so lovingly pay homage to.

Deep Space is ecstatic to be putting out a 2xlp version of their debut album. The first press limited to 500, and we've included a remix for the song 'Cool Stuff' that is exclusive to the vinyl.

CD version out on Laser Ghost Recordings.
